Loth Sward, Old-Time Matsqui Farmer Drowns in Double Fatality at Stave Lake

Residents of Matsqui and Mission were shocked to hear of the fatal accident at Stave Lake on Saturday, when Loth Sward, aged 56, well-known farmer of Matsqui, and Peter S. Peterson, aged 62, of Mission, lost their lives and Joseph Sward, aged 25, of Matsqui, son of Loth Sward, narrowly escaped death.

The three men left the south end of Stave Lake early Saturday morning in a small boat with an outboard motor. Halfway up the lake the boat apparently struck a snag or some obstruction in the water about a mile and a half from the power house.

Water started to pour in over the gunwales. The small boat was heavily loaded with hunting gear and supplies for a ten-day trip. There was no opportunity to bail, and the boat quickly swamped and turned over.

The men clung to bow and stern, but could not right the boat. Their shouts for help were eventually heard by George Friend, an engineer at the Alouette power station of the B.C. Electric Railway, who obtained a motorboat and hurried to their rescue.

When the boat overturned the three men were thrown into the water, but coming to the surface they clung to the small craft until their hands became numb and they could hold on no longer. Joseph Sward held his father's arm to keep him above water until his hand lost its strength and his father slipped out of his grasp, and sank. Not many minutes later Peterson succumbed to the icy cold of the water and disappeared from sight.

Young Sward was in the water for more than half an hour before he was rescued by Friend, who arrived just in time to save the younger man, who was almost unconscious from the cold. He was able to throw a rope over the exhausted man and drag him into the boat. He then proceeded back to the power-house and commenced first aid on young Sward.

Corporal J. Renner of the Mission detachment of the provincial police, and formerly of Matsqui, arrived at Stave Lake Sunday morning, and salvaged the overturned craft that was the cause of the tragedy.

No sign has been found of the bodies of either of the victims, and they may never be located. The scene of the fatality is not far from the spot where Murdoch Macdonald, formerly sergeant of Vancouver police force, and latterly a hotel proprietor of Mission City, disappeared under somewhat similar circumstances a few

"Klondike Night" Realizes $200
Due to the excellent attendance and the "rich-strike" soundough" spending spirit which prevailed, the Klondike Night celebration held in the Orange hall last Friday realized almost $200 for the Aldergrove Elks' Christmas Cheer fund. Dancing, house-housie, "miners' bar", games of chance and "not a chance" were all very well patronized, due in no small part to the eloquence of the Brother Bills, their friends, and members of other orders, who assisted in operating the various attractions.

At the annual meeting of the Fraser Valley Division of the B. C. Honey Producers' Association, J. W. Winson of Huntingdon retired from the presidency after being 16 years in office. Among the directors elected were Mr. Winson and Mr. Finlay of Huntingdon was made an honorary director.

Peterson, who owned and operated a machine shop in Mission, leaves a wife.

Mr. Loth Sward was an old-time resident of Matsqui Prairie, having operated a farm on the Turner road for the past thirty years. He was a native of Sweden.

He leaves to mourn his passing, besides his sorrowing wife, three sons, Joseph, Simon and Lawrence, and one daughter, Grindel.

It is tragic to relate that Mr. Sward is the third brother who has passed away in the past three months. Mr. Carl Sward and Mr. G. Borg predeceased him.

Duck Season Closes December 15

Closing date of the duck hunting season is December 15, not December 31, as stated in last week's issue of The News. So nimrods are warned not to use our error as an alibi to extend their shooting, as Game Warden Williams says it won't work!

SLOAN TELLS MISSION BOARD GRANTS ARE NOT EQUITABLE

The assertion that Eastern Canada has profited from British Columbia to the tune of $570,756,000 in the period from 1871 to 1935, was made by Hon. Gordon Sloan, attorney-general, at the annual banquet of the Mission Board of Trade on Monday evening.

He said that grants received during the period were $156,140,000 short of the total to which the province was legally entitled. In addition he claimed that as compared with grants, the Federal Government had made a profit of $414,616,000 in excise and customs duties collected in British Columbia.

Hon. Mr. Sloan stated that the Provincial Government is pressing for a commission to enquire into the financial relations between the province and Dominion.

Other speakers at the function, which was attended by several Abbotsford people, were Miss M. de Gusseme, pres. of Agassiz Board of Trade, who described a recent trip to Eastern Canada and the United States, and D. W. Strachan, M.L.A.

Bert Hunter, in the employ of the B.C. Electric, was taken to the M.S.A. Hospital yesterday, having received injuries in an accident while unloading poles in the yard here. He sustained pelvic bone fractures.

Cabinet Ministers To Attend Opening of New Auditorium

Finishing touches are now being made to the auditorium at the Sumas-Abbotsford high school, which is to be known as the Philip H. Sheffield Memorial, and the official opening is scheduled to take place on December 18th.

Several members of the Provincial Cabinet will be present at the opening ceremony, among them being Dr. Weir, minister of education, Hon. J. Hart, minister of finance, and Hon. J. McPherson, minister of public works. Also attending will be Mr. MacCorkindale, superintendent of Vancouver schools, and Mrs. Mahon, chairman of the Vancouver School Board.

The building, located at the rear of the Sumas-Abbotsford high school, has been spared nothing to make it complete and absolutely modern. The spacious and lofty auditorium commands admiration and interest from all viewing it. The floor has been marked off for sports, there being a basketball area and three double badminton courts. Special canvas floor coverings have been purchased to protect the floor when used for events other than physical education and school sports. 500 chairs have been purchased, but there is a seating capacity of from 800 to 1000.

The stage, which measures 16 feet by 30 feet, has been equipped with back drop curtains and velvet draw curtains. A Heintzmann piano has been installed.

The walls of the rooms are finished in golden oak to a height of eight feet and the top paneled with fibre-rock boards. The building is heated by two furnaces, 1 coal-burning and the other oil-burning. Both are automatic. Showers and wash rooms are fitted with the latest fixtures.

The home economics and manual training classes, also under the same roof, and taught by Miss E. White and Mr. T. Quayle respectively, are both furnished with the latest equipment.

A touching tribute to the late Mr. P. H. Sheffield, without whose initiative and executive ability the building might never have been constructed, is his portrait, which is to be hung in the auditorium, with a perpetual illumination.

Harold Martin has returned to Qualicum Bay, V.I., after a brief visit in Vancouver and in this district.

Young Hiemstra Girl Dies When Hit By Automobile

The Sumas Prairie section of the Trans-Canada highway was the scene of yet another fatality last Friday afternoon, when nine-year-old Doris E. Hiemstra lost her life as the result of being struck by an automobile driven by Frederick J. Dawson, 5630 Angus Drive, Vancouver.

The coroner's inquest, conducted by Coroner J. M. McDermid, was held on Monday at the Henderson Funeral Home, and lasted for almost all day. The jury being taken to the scene of the accident. After over two hours' deliberation, the jury, which was composed of J. Olson, L. Merritt, R. Plowright, J. Blacklock, P. Martin and G. Cooper, brought in a verdict of equal negligence on the part of the driver of the car and the girl.

Evidence indicated that Doris stepped from the school bus and stayed by the side of the road until the bus was more than 125 feet away. Then she crossed the road and in doing so was struck by the car, which was stated to be travelling at about fifty miles per hour. Two little Hindu children, who testified at the inquest, disembarked from the school bus at the same time as the Hiemstra girl, but remained on the road side.

Dawson was remanded to December 4 on $5000 bail by Magistrate G. F. Pratt.

The little girl, daughter of S. Hiemstra, was a pupil at the Upper Sumas school. The school bus was driven by W. B. Porter of Sumas Prairie.

The funeral was held on Tuesday from Sumas, Wash., to Lynden.

Central Valley Fairs Association Had Successful Year; Officers Re-Elected

The annual meeting of the Central Valley Fair was held Thursday evening at 8:30 p.m. in the Orange hall, with a good attendance from town and district.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and adopted. President T. D. Smith gave a short review of activities of the society stating that after considerable delay they had received their charter. He was pleased to report that the second annual fair was a success in many ways. Entries were twenty percent higher, with the increase quite noticeable in the live stock class. New buildings had been erected for the horses, which would accommodate 35 head. This building was paid for out of the 1935 funds and would not interfere with the 1936 surplus. The weather was not so favorable for the 1936 fair but nevertheless the attendance was good.

The present fair buildings are not large enough to take care of the steady progress that the fair is making, and in the near future plans for further extensions will have to be made. The board is sponsor to the calf club, potato club and other small organizations which have been making splendid progress under the direction of the board.

The fair was well supported financially by the business men of the village and the different municipalities concerned. Mr. Smith wished to express his appreciation to the directors and committees for their splendid co-operation during the past two seasons and hoped that the new officers would be able to enjoy the same assistance during the coming year.

Mr. J. L. Starr, chairman of the finance committee gave a brief review of the fine financial co-operation received during last season, and wanted

Two Vagabonds in Langedoc.
Two Vagabonds in Spain.

"Vagabond" — the dictionary gives its meaning as "a tramp"—but how different are the connotations of the two words. A vagabond suggests romance, glamour, a carefree gaiety, and those are words which may rightly be applied to Mr. and Mrs. Gordon. They are English artists who live in Paris in the intervals between hilarious madcap journeys through Europe, about which they have written these fascinating tales.

They feel it would be impossible to write a book dealing purely and impersonally with the country itself, so they don't try but write about themselves and their adventures—and they are such charming people we are glad that they have done so.

On of the most attractive things about these books is their delightful black and white drawings which adorn almost every page. Color plates by Cora Gordon also illustrate some of the larger editions.

Two of the books will take you to Spain—one by railway and the more orthodox routes, while the other borrows the idea from R. L. Stevenson and takes you by donkey cart to unfrequented places. Both these journeys were made some ten or twelve years ago and it would prove interesting to compare conditions then and now.

"Portuguese Somersault" includes the story of two journeys to that country—one in 1926 and the other in 1933. The title is indicative of the changes which had taken place in seven years in the country and in the author's opinions.

"Three Lands on Three Wheels" is the only title which does not indicate the arm-chair traveller's destination. In it the two vagabonds tour France, England and Ireland on a motor cycle which they christened "The Travelling Wardrobe"—and many and varied are their adventures. But wherever Jan and Cora Gordon invite you to go—do accept for you are sure to be entertained.

HEALTH EDUCATION IS NEEDED

In a folder just issued by the Health League of Canada the statement is made that, "People are not doing what they should to prevent illness because they do not know what to do." In proof of the above assertion the following statistics are given:

Diphtheria can be prevented effectively by inoculation of diphtheria toxoid. Yet 263 persons died in Canada in 1935 from this disease.
In Ontario unpasteurized milk is sold in 191 municipalities with populations over 1000 and in most of the rural areas. The rest of Canada also has just a little protection against tuberculosis and other diseases which unpasteurized milk may carry to the consumer.

Cancer tuberculosis, bright's disease and heart disease have killed over 200,000 persons in Canada since 1930. These diseases, where present, would be discovered in their early stages when they can be treated with much success, and the death toll would be greatly reduced if annual physical examinations were the general custom.

Similar conditions of ignorance are known to exist in many other cases of sickness and death. We know how to prevent disease yet we are not preventing it. Public ignorance seems to be the major obstacle in progress toward health.

Recognizing that intensive health education of the Canadian public by all possible means to be an immediate need if we are to achieve the higher levels of personal and national health within our reach, the League is using every modern method of disseminating knowledge through articles on health in newspapers and magazines, weekly health talks, by radio, educational films in the movies, billboard and street car posters, leaflets and folders on health available for free distribution, health exhibits and speakers at public meetings.

The League receives splendid co-operation from the Department of Public Health of the Province, the schools, universities, churches, social and community associations. It would seem that what is mostly needed is more co-operation and attention on the part of the public.

Health Insurance Scheme Taking Longer Than Expected

It is taking longer than government officials had originally expected to get British Columbia's pioneer Health Insurance Act into operation.

With thousands of questionnaires yet to be answered by employers and employees throughout the province it is certain now that the scheme can not go into effect at the first of the new year and probably it will be several months before collections for the insurance get under way.

Meanwhile 200 firms have reported that they have private insurance schemes covering some 45,000 employees. The Health Insurance Commission, under Dr. Allen Peables, is investigating each scheme to see whether it comes within the definitions of the Insurance Act or whether it must

Synopsis of Land Act

PRE-EMPTIONS

VACANT, unreserved, surveyed Crown lands may be pre-empted by British subjects over 18 years of age, and by aliens on declaring intention to become British subjects, conditional upon residence, occupation and improvement.

Full information concerning Pre-emption is given in Bulletin No. 1, Land Series, "How to Pre-empt Land," copies of which can be obtained free of charge by addressing the Department of Lands, Victoria, B.C.; Bureau of Provincial Information, Victoria, or any Government Agent.

Records will be granted covering only land suitable for agricultural purposes within reasonable distance of road, school and marketing facilities and which is not timberland, i.e., carrying over 5,000 board feet per acre east of the Coast Range and 8,000 feet per acre west of that Range.

Applications for pre-emption are to be addressed to the Land Commissioner of the Land Recording Division in which the land applied for is situated, on printed forms obtained from the Commissioner.

Pre-emption must be occupied for five years and improvements made to value of $10 per acre, including clearing and cultivating at least five acres, before a Crown Grant can be received.

Pre-emption carrying part time conditions of occupation are also granted.

PURCHASE OR LEASE

Applications are received for purchase of vacant and unreserved Crown lands, not being timberland, for agricultural purposes. Minimum price of first-class (arable) land is $5 per acre, and second-class (grazing) land, $2.50 per acre. Further information is given in Bulletin No. 10, Land Series, "Purchase and Lease of Crown Lands."

As a partial relief measure, reverted lands may be acquired by purchase in ten equal instalments, with the first payment suspended for two years, provided taxes are paid when due and improvements are made during the first two years of not less than 10% of the appraised value.

Mill, factory or industrial sites on timber land, not exceeding 40 acres, may be purchased or leased, the conditions including payment of stumpage.

Unsurveyed areas, not exceeding 20 acres, may be leased as homesteads, conditional upon a dwelling being erected in the first year, title being obtained after residence and improvement conditions are fulfilled and land has been surveyed.

For grazing and industrial purposes areas not exceeding 640 acres may be leased by one person or a company.

Under the Grazing Act the Province is divided into grazing districts and the range administered under grazing regulations amended from time to time to meet varying conditions. Annual grazing permits are issued based on certain monthly rates per head of stock. Priority in grazing privileges is given to resident stock owners. Stock-owners may form associations for range management. Free or partially free permits available for settlers, campers and travellers, up to ten head.

Handling Of Horses Is No Longer Compulsory Subject In Mounted Police Training

Horses are still an important element in the equipment of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police although it is now possible for a man to be a mountie without being a good horseman.

"Equitation," as the science of riding and handling horses is called, is no longer a compulsory subject in the training of Mounted Police recruits.

The work carried on by Canada's ancient red-coated force is constantly becoming more specialized and motor cars, motorcycles, dogsleds, aeroplanes, cruisers and patrol boats combine to push the horse into a somewhat limited role in the transport setup.

During the past year a "mounted section" of the force was formed and in this section the horse still occupies his customary place.

The annual report of Sir James MacBrien, commissioner, just issued, states formation of the mounted section was due to the difficulty of completing the training of some recruits in the prescribed period of six months if intensive training in equitation was necessary and also due to "changing conditions of service in the force and the advance of modern and rapid means of travel."

The report also says: "Experience has shown that mounted police when used in connection with dismounted police are of great assistance in the control and dispersal of mobs, unlawful assemblies, etc., and there is no intention of dispensing altogether with the mounted men."

The mounted section consists of several troops of men stationed at strategic points throughout the Dominion, such as Ottawa, Winnipeg, Regina, Edmonton and Vancouver. Each troop consists of about 20 men, all of whom undergo intensive training in equitation.

The latest report covers the fiscal year ended March 31, 1936, and during that period horses owned by the force decreased 36, and at the end of the period numbered 241.

The transport equipment of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police on March 31 last consisted of the following: 442 passenger cars, 28 motorcycles, 19 motor trucks, 10 cruisers, 17 patrol boats, 226 saddle horses, 15 team horses, 388 sleigh dogs.

Farm Life Advantages

Offers Best Opportunities Of Any Industry In Canada

Farming offers the best opportunities of any industry in Canada to the average man, Hon. J. G. Gardiner, minister of agriculture, told a group of farm boys at Ottawa.

"There is no place in Canada where the average man can make a more comfortable living, have greater independence, greater freedom of thought or more abundant opportunities for home life than on the farm," said Mr. Gardiner.

In the past many people had a wrong conception of farming, he thought. Many farmers had tried to give their children an education in order that they could leave the farm and have an easier life. This was a natural consequence of the hardships the pioneer farmers of Canada had met. The proper attitude was to strive for education and culture but to remain on the farm.

Young farmers should get the best education they could. Culture had a place on the farm as well as in the office and a man was no worse as a farmer if he had a university degree.

Mr. John Arnold was a watchmaker. George the Second paid him $2,500 for a watch which he inserted inside a ring. He refused $5,000 from the Emperor of Russia for a similar watch. So there seems little doubt that he was a good watchmaker. But his fame rests mainly on the fact that, for a wager, he once climbed to the top of the spire of Salisbury Cathedral—and it's 404 feet up—and sitting calmly on the top, took a watch to pieces, cleaned it, put it together again, and climbed down. His reward was a few pounds.

Other watchmakers may not have been so spectacular, says a writer in Answers, but they have made some interesting timepieces. Fashions usually go in cycles, and the modern craze which women have for miniature wrist-watches is only a survival of the old days, when craftsmen really were craftsmen and mass production had never been heard of.

One gentleman, a Mr. James Cox, once invented a watch with a musical movement which played two tunes. His pride in his work counted more with him than bread-and-butter, for he ruined himself by making musical watches and other toys which no one could afford to buy.

There are still watches going today which were made hundreds of years ago. One is still going, and keeping time, although it was first wound up in the year 1664.

The "baby" wrist-watch of today has been causing watchmakers some trouble. The accuracy of a watch is governed by the size of the balance wheel, and while, in the rectangular type of wristwatch, the wheel can be of a fair size, there isn't much room in the round type.

And so the works are now being arranged differently. Instead of being grouped together, watch movements are made in two separate layers. The balance wheel has a layer all to itself, and the rest of the works are in a second layer.

This arrangement allows a wheel of much larger size than before to be used, so that the tiniest wrist-watch can now be made very much more accurate.

Rare Albino Bullfrog

Only Known Frog To Sport Blend Of Three Colors

Lilith, rare Albino bullfrog of the St. Louis zoo, is gradually turning yellow and the experts are puzzled.

When she arrived a year ago Lilith was pure white, and the zoo displayed her pridefully.

But a few months ago she began to develop dark, splotchy freckles, and the yellow coloring is now streaking down and around the freckles.

This gives Lilith an appearance of mottled white, brown and yellow. The zoo is ashamed of her, and so is she.

Real Albino frogs occur about one in a million. Several eastern zoos have yellow ones and dark frogs can be found on almost any pond. Lilith, although no longer milky white, can still claim the distinction of being the only known frog sporting a blend of three colors.

Zoo officials can't explain Lilith's yellow streaks. She seems healthy, they say.

Odd Animal Buddies

On a farm at Tyndale, Australia, a kangaroo has developed a remarkable affection for a Jersey cow. The kangaroo accompanies the cow to the pasture, feeds with her, lies down with her at night, and goes to the milking yard and "stands by" while the cow is being milked. If the cow is threatened by a hostile dog, the kangaroo will leap to her rescue and drive off the aggressor.

Moving Furniture

Moving Van Loaders Take Lessons To Learn The Art

You wonder how all the furniture in a large house can be packed in a relatively small number of cubic feet in a moving van?

One of the reasons is the Indianapolis College for Moving Van Loaders, operated by a large furniture moving company. Students in the course undergo two strenuous weeks of loading and unloading, with classroom work in which driving regulations and transport laws of every state in the Union, as well as Canada, are studied thoroughly.

The graduates then are placed on trucks under experienced supervisors and in a few weeks, if they learn the business, are promoted to A-1 rating. The "laboratory" course of the college is stiff. A double house is completely furnished with all types of furniture, even including electric and icebox types of refrigerators.

The first lesson is to move all the furniture out of the house and load it in a truck in the rear, being sure that everything is packed neatly and not subject to breakage. The second lesson is to move all the furniture out of the truck and back into the house. This loading and unloading continues for many days until the students get the knack of it.

Tiny Dog Battles Cougar

Little Animal Worries Puma Thereby Saving Woman's Life

A tiny Spitz dog entered the hall of fame in Sweet Home, Oregon, when it beat off the attempt of a huge cougar to attack Mrs. Bert Simons. The attack occurred on the Simons ranch when Mrs. Simons went out to see why her sheep had not come in.

She found three dead sheep slain by the cougar, and then soon realized that the cougar, hiding near by, was coming after her. The small dog charged in, worrying the cat until Mrs. Simons was able to make her way to safety. Hunters were summoned and trailed the cougar into the timber where it was killed.

Attar Of Roses

Perfume Manufacturer From Bulgaria Gives Some Side Lights On Business

Carrying in his vest pocket the scent of an acre of roses, Peter Shipkoff, Bulgarian manufacturer of attar of roses, arrived in Montreal.

"It takes between 3,500 and 4,000 pounds of rose leaves to make one pound of attar," he told a reporter in the Mount Royal Hotel, and then pulled a little bottle holding an ounce of the oily liquid out of his pocket.

Instantly a rose garden seemed to come to full bloom in the lobby of the hotel. The reporter put it within an inch of his nose and nearly choked. Concentrated odor was unpleasant.

"Bulgaria is the largest producer of attar of roses," Mr. Shipkoff continued. "We have 70,000 hectares of rose gardens in central Bulgaria. The roses are all the 30-leaved, crimson Damask rose, which we find to be the most powerfully scented."

"This year's production," he said, "is small. It is not more than 2,000 kilograms for all Bulgaria. Yet prices still are low. They are between $9 and $10 an ounce. In pre-depression days the price was $25 an ounce."

To Aid Recruiting

Longer Rest Periods For Soldiers Is Suggestion Made

More sleep for soldiers would tempt recruits, according to one entrant in a contest organized by the British Northern in an attempt to increase the comfort and attractiveness of army life. Soldiers should be allowed to stay in bed until seven o'clock on week days and nine on Sundays, the entrant adds. The report of the contest, just issued in London, said other ideas included an increase in the comfort of uniforms and the admission of girl friends into barrack supper rooms. Securing recruits is becoming difficult in Britain.

"Calico Cat" Quilt Delight To Piece

"Pretty Pussy" may be just a Calico Cat, but he certainly makes a bright and amusing quilt motif! Make him a "calico cat," indeed, by using up your scraps; it will lend variety to the work and a gayness to your finished quilt. Dark floss outlines the features. Cat-lovers as well as all youngsters will be delighted with this quilt. In pattern 5707 you will find the Block Chart, an illustration for cutting, sewing and finishing, together with yardage chart, diagram of quilt to help arrange the blocks for a single and double bed size, and a diagram of block which serves as a guide for placing the patches and suggests contrasting materials.

Population Of Prairie Provinces Is Shown To Be Drifting Northward

Easy-Going Teaching

Severe Criticism Is Levelled At Present Educational System

One of the most severe criticisms which continue to be levelled at the educational system of this province, says the Toronto Globe, is the inadequate or ineffective instruction which is given in the correct and effective use of the English language.

Following remarks of Mr. J. G. Harvie, chairman of the Orillia Board of Education, to teachers on the importance of training children in grammatical form, correct pronunciation and clear enunciation, the Packet and Times says: "Unfortunately there is a disposition toward easy-going carelessness in these matters which is earning Canadians an undesirable reputation."

This sentiment is echoed by the Ottawa Journal, which remarks: "Apparently we have not been overly successful in teaching this subject, and the schools continue to turn out young people whose sentences are muggy, who are verbose where they should be concise, take too long to pass a given point, have no conception of proper punctuation."

Of all the subjects at present on the curricula of both public and high schools there is none more important than those which may be included under the general term English. No other accomplishment gained during school years is so useful and so necessary to almost everyone in after life as the ability to write and speak well.

Without a sufficiently recognized standard, carelessness is liable to result. There is also the fact that modern radio, moving pictures, and a great deal of magazine literature are very powerful factors for the teaching of mis-spelling, mispronunciation, slang phrases and other undesirable tendencies which the teacher has to combat. It is not only a question of teaching correct English, but it is also a case of having the pupil "unlearn" much that he picks up from sources outside of the classroom.

A child adopts the tongue of his parents and forms habits of speech at a very early age. It is necessary, therefore, that sound groundwork be established in the first school years so that later teaching, which is equally important, may be built on a substantial base.

Canada's Wheat Trade

Wheat Exports Greatly Increased During First Half Of Current Fiscal Year

Increased value of Canada's wheat trade during the first half of the current fiscal year is indicated in figures released by Hon. J. L. Isley, minister of national revenue.

From April to September, both months inclusive, Canada's wheat exports were valued at $109,766,902, compared with $59,005,180 for the same period of 1935. This was an increase of 86 per cent.

This year 127,443,004 bushels were exported, yielding an average of 86 cents a bushel; a year ago the 71,640,907 bushels which went abroad averaged 82½ cents.

The trade figures for the current half year disclose that out of 12 groups of export commodities, only one recorded a decline. Increases in meats, cheese, planks and boards, newsprint and partially manufactured copper were substantial.

Ringling For A Century

Electric Bell At Oxford University Museum, Is A Phenomenon

An electric bell which has been ringing for almost a century, was one of the exhibits at the Oxford University museum staff's annual exhibition, says the London Telegraph. The bell, which was made in 1840—it is not known by whom—was moved to Oxford after it had been ringing for 20 years. It has not been moved since. Incased in glass, it consists of two cylinders made of copper and 5,000 paper disks coated with sulphur.

The battery charges itself, and is the nearest thing to perpetual motion which has ever been achieved. Nobody can tell how long it will continue to ring or how soon it will need recharging.—Winnipeg Tribune.

Wife—"You don't give me nice presents now."

Husband—"No, but I pay for those you give yourself."

The sweetest smelling orange blossoms come from the sour orange trees.

Population of the prairie provinces is moving northward.

Figures for the 1936 five-year census of the three provinces published by the trade and commerce department show the increase in the six most northerly electoral districts amounts to almost 17 per cent. This compares with an increase of 2½ per cent. for all districts.

The total population of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta is 2,414,050 against 2,353,529 in the 1931 census. In the six northerly electoral districts the population has increased from 237,065 to 282,826.

The northward movement is attributed by the department mainly to three factors:

Taking up of farmlands in the newer districts by farmers who have given up their old farms in the drouth stricken areas of the more southern sections of the provinces; development of mining fields in the north, business developed by the Hudson Bay railroad and the new northern ocean terminal at Port Churchill.

In northern Manitoba the district of Churchill has a population of 33,755, an increase of 1,612 over that reported in 1931. In the southern section of this district there are 2,494 occupied farms while in the northern parts are the town of The Pas and the adjoining Flin Flon mining district. The port of Churchill also adds to the population.

In Saskatchewan the districts of Melfort, Prince Albert and North Battleford have a joint population of 151,350, an increase of 29,281. Occupied farms in these northern sections of Saskatchewan number 26,603.

In Alberta the electoral districts of Athabasca and Peace River cover the whole of the northern section of the province. The population of Athabasca has increased from 39,102 to 47,956 in the five years and that of Peace River from 43,761 to 48,755.

Race Of Giants

Survey Shows That Children Of Today Are Two Inches Taller Than Grandparents

Signs that earth's inhabitants may be growing slowly into a race of giants were noted in a world-wide study of heights and weights of young people.

Every 12½ years for the last 30 years, almost four-tenths of an inch has been added to the height of the average college student, the Journal of the American Medical Association reported in an editorial survey.

For the population as a whole, the Journal said, the rate of growth "is somewhat smaller."

In the United States, it continued, "children of today entering colleges and universities seem to average two inches taller and weigh some seven pounds more than did their parents and grandparents."

"A similar observation has recently been made abroad."

To support its conclusions the editorial recited these figures:

In Germany boys entering school between six and 6½ years of age in 1924 were 108.7 centimeters tall. A similar crop of children in 1932 was 114.9 centimeters tall.

In Norway, the average height of military recruits increased 3.01 centimeters between 1878-1887 and 1923-1925.

In Holland, recruits were 6.67 centimeters taller in 1921-1925 than in 1863-1867.

In Sweden the rise was 4.5 centimeters between 1846-1850 and 1921-1922.

In this country, students at Harvard University, Vassar, Wellesley, Smith and Mt. Holyoke colleges added 1¼ inches to their average height in a generation.

As the students grew taller, they grew heavier in proportion.

Larger Sugar Beet Crop

Alberta's sugar beet industry will hit a new mark this year, for the harvest that started recently will see more than 200,000 tons garnered, the first time such a high level of production has been attained. More than 60,000 tons of sugar will be produced at the Raymond and Picture Butte factories.

A hothouse citrus industry, developed from plants brought from Florida, is getting started near Moscow. Lemons are unknown in present-day Moscow markets.

Japan's Richest Family

A little square with three horizontal lines inside is Japanese picture writing for "Mitsui" which means "three wells." It is the insignia of the House of Mitsui, the richest family in Japan. An old legend relates that a farmer once found the treasure of a robber band hidden in three wells and, as a memorial of his good fortune, he and his descendants were called Mitsui.

The tale is an accurate symbol, since the Mitsui have been getting richer and richer for the last 300 years, until now this little trade-mark is stamped on the sales and boxes of one quarter of Japan's entire commerce, both import and export, and under the house flag of the Mitsui is a merchant fleet as large as the whole mercantile marine of France.

Through foresight and clarity of purpose, the Mitsui have become one of the greatest families in the world. Its members met in the 17th century and decided deliberately that they would become a great trading house. They set down the ethical and commercial principles in the Mitsui Family Constitution, which has never been amended without careful thought in full family council. The Constitution made the Mitsui partly a family and partly a corporation. If an heir has not shown by the time he is 14 or 15 that he is intelligent and able, he is politely kicked out of the family and he takes another name. To replace him, a bright youngster is adopted, often from a poor family, and installed as a Mitsui. By this jaunty disregard of the sanctity of blood lines, the family stock is continually being refreshed.

By imperial charter, the Mitsui have their own family court, and they are responsible only to their own house laws. The one means of escape from their jurisdiction is by resignation from the family, and by relinquishing the name and the yearly income. The share is always large, but, beyond this, family capital is never touched for personal use. The house law requires that wives be chosen by the council, forbids divorce, forbids old members to resign as long as they are "good", insists that they resign when the council thinks younger men would do better in their places, and enjoins "You born in the land of the gods revere your Emperor love your country and do your duty as subjects."

The Mitsui are a patriarchal clan artificially divided into 11 families. Recently the head of the clan—the Senior Baron Mitsui—resigned because of old age and took a new name. One of his accomplishments was the planting of a million saplings in Korea that the House when he was dead might not lack for timber. In his place the 11 "fathers" elected Takakimi Mitsui. He is 39 a younger son of his branch of the family who studied several years at both Harvard and Cambridge. It is a Mitsui policy to prepare their sons by work and education in the countries of the West. The Emperor immediately raised him to the peerage with the title of Baron . . . and this imperial alacrity reveals the importance of commerce in the scheme of Japanese ambitions.

Baron Mitsui lives in a private park among fragrant pine trees and placid lotus ponds in the middle of Tokyo—a city of five million people. His residence is a symbol of the personal frugality of his clan—a low wooden house in style half Japanese, half European. Connected is a splendid marble palace his private museum and guest house. There money is no consideration but in his home a close watch is kept on expenditures.

As head of the House the new Baron will supervise a vast group of companies which deal in silk, cotton, oil, coal, sugar, cereal, fertilizer, lumber, machinery, metal goods and general merchandise; he will control the policy of all the mines, plantations, forests, which supply these products raw; the factories for their manufacture, and the Mitsui Ginko (bank) which finances their sale. None of these enterprises will he regard as agencies for his personal profit but rather as a sacred trust. Under the house flag are also several brokerage companies handling millions of dollars' worth of business which never touches Japan at all—except the profits. For instance, Mitsui in New York buys rubber for other than Japanese consumers, and Mitsui cotton buyers handle large accounts for German, Indian or other mills.

The Mitsui's peculiar contribution to commercial technique was the first "Fixed-price, Spot Cash, No Credit" store in Japan, and probably in the world. In the 18th century Hachirobei Mitsui ("The Great") founded a dry goods store where he sold cloth in any length, whereas others only sold "kimono lengths." He introduced the family name into popular novels and plays. When it rained, he loaned his patrons oiled paper umbrellas boldly inscribed with the Mitsui trademark. A later head of the house induced the famous Hokusai to include the Mitsui drapery store in the foreground of a painting of Mount Fuji. By this enterprise, frugality and foresight, the Mitsui have made themselves the model of all the Japanese wealthy families.

Five of these family corporations are reputed to own more than half of Japan's actual wealth, barring the fortune of the Imperial House and the money in the National Treasury, and they control nine tenths of the nation's industry and shipping. There is no opposition, real or implied, between "big business" and the government as there is here. Business, partly out of reverent patriotism and partly by command of the Emperor and the military

YOUNG POTATO GROWERS HONORED AT BANQUET

The banquet held last Friday by the Poplar Farmers' Institute, honoring members of the Matsqui Potato Club, was a most successful and enjoyable event, over 40 people attending. Guest speakers were Mr. McLeod, Dominion Potato Inspector and G. Clarke, district horticulturist.

Mr. H. C. Green, supervisor of the club, which is composed of young boys and girls, stated that there were eight contestants; the highest grew 2550 lbs. of potatoes from one sack of seed potatoes; the lowest obtained 700 lbs. from one sack.

Following is the detailed result: Ray Green 86; Mary Butcher 55.45; Tom Short 83.15; Bob Hazlett 79.9; E. Weiss 74.4; B. Smith 73.75; J. Todd 70.4; T. Dickson 62.6; W. Latter 42.

Mr. Green intimated that Mr. Grey, who successfully led the youthful Langley potato growers to a second place in the Toronto Fair, would probably give assistance to the local club next year.

Mrs. Busby entertained with solos, and Mr. Busby gave recitations. Unfortunately, owing to the heavy fog, Vancouver and Langley visitors were unable to attend.

The sister cities of Oakland and Berkeley Cal., have gone into the milk business, the two cities jointly handling milk as a public utility.

clique, is conducted for one end—the greater glory of the nation. No rich man is criticised for making too much money, since by tradition he lives simply, and his profits are put into things that mean national glory, whether they be treasure or new factories. Thus no Mitsui owns a yacht. Taxes are low, but in return for this leniency, the rich are expected to buy bonds to balance the budget.

The largest fortune is of course, that belonging to the Imperial House. The Minister of the Household was once asked if the estimate of the privy wealth at 45 billion yen was correct. He was told, courteously but firmly, that the Emperor's wealth had never been reckoned, never would be, and that it was hoped that no one would ever again be so rash as to ask for the figure. The Emperor owns much city property; all of Japan's timber land; and blocks of stock in all reputable concerns. In fact, it is by imperial participation that Japanese enterprises are made reputable.

In the days of the old feudal barons, the mere trader was despised. Now, the Emperor recognizes trade as one of the chief props of the empire, and he delights to honor the great commercial houses, for it is through their shrewd exploitation of their products, as well as through the long swords of the military, that Japan is achieving her great place among the nations.

The proper gift for the Puttelplums

Mr. and Mrs. Puttelplum have agreed on a Christmas gift for each other. They're going to give themselves a telephone.

"Goodness knows we've been without a telephone long enough," said Mr. Puttelplum, "and when you come to think about it, from a social, business or protection standpoint there's nothing that gives greater value."

"I'm glad you have 'come to think about it,'" said Mrs. Puttelplum, "for I've been telling you the same thing for ages. Let's have the telephone put in before Christmas so we'll have the pleasure of calling up our friends during the holiday season."

The Careless Watchmaker

The watchmaker sat at his bench, working hard, as he did, indeed, for ten hours or so every day in the year except Sundays. He was a careful, clever workman, who satisfied his customers and held their respect. And for that reason he earned a fair income and was content.

His father had been a watchmaker before him, and he fully expected his son would be a watchmaker after him. But chance upset all his plans on the day when he split one of the small, delicate steel tools that he used in his work.

He put the thing down, feeling a little cross that an old favorite had reached the end of a long and useful life. The broken tool was left there.

Then there came a day when he had to sign his name on a paper that was important and needed to be sent to London. As a rule he kept a quill pen of the ordinary sort ready for use, but on this occasion it was not there.

"How provoking!" he thought. "Was there anything that he could use instead?"

Idly, and without the least idea of what was to result, he picked up the tool with the split point. He might somehow scratch his name with it, and he was in a hurry.

To his great surprise he found that this strange pen did the job very well—better, in fact, than the quill that he and other people were in the habit of using. As he put it down, an idea came into his head.

"I wonder . . . !" he murmured. Later in the day, when he was less busy, he tested the split tool as a "writing instrument." He tinkered with it a little and altered the shape a trifle, and rounded it and smoothed it. Then he discovered that he had invented a new form of pen that didn't splutter, wasn't easy to break, and was likely to last for a very long time.

Before he was much older he had given up watchmaking and had set up a factory for the manufacture of steel pens. By and by he hit upon the notion of a nib that was separate from the handle and could be replaced when worn or damaged.

More and more of his wares were needed and used, until at last the older sort of pens were entirely out of date. When he had built up a very large business and won an immense fortune.

4000 Try to Join Mounties Yearly

Between 4000 and 5000 men seek enlistment in the Royal Canadian Mounted Police each year, but only some 300 are accepted, the commissioner of the force, Sir James H. MacBrien, stated at a service club meeting in Montreal last week.

Born.—To Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Barker (nee Eva Ware) in a Vancouver hospital on November 24, a daughter.

MATSQUI

Matsqui Hall Association observed the fifth anniversary of the erection of the Matsqui community hall with a successful dance last Friday evening.

Mrs. J. Smith is spending some time at Tacoma, Wash.

Danny Neely, who has been visiting some time as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Smith has returned to his home at Mt. Vernon, Wash.

Mrs. Carl Lundy, formerly of Matsqui, passed away in Bellingham last week. She leaves to mourn her passing one daughter, Mary, also of Bellingham.

Mr. John Anderson is erecting a new barn on his farm on Harris Rd.

Mr. Elmer Ellingson has purchased a new Studebaker sedan.

The old house at the corner of St. Olaf streets and Riverside road in Matsqui village has been torn down by Conrad Erlanson, who bought the building.

The Lutheran Ladies' Aid had a most successful sale of work on Saturday evening. Net proceeds of the event were $50.

The Matsqui Elementary School children are rehearsing for their annual Christmas Concert. This year there will be a Christmas tree, a Santa Claus and presents and treats for all the school children. The P. T. A. is holding a bazaar this week for that purpose and also to supply cocoa to the children during the cold months. Dicken's "Christmas Carol" is being produced by Grade 8 pupils.

SUMAS (WASH.) TO HAVE VOLUNTEER FIRE BRIGADE

Creation of an official volunteer fire department was authorized in an ordinance passed by the Sumas (Wash.) town council at its meeting last week.

The department will consist of not less than six or more than twelve volunteer firemen, and a schedule of pay for services of the firemen is included in the ordinance. The chief and assistant chief will be appointed by the mayor. Firemen will be selected by the fire chief.

Each member of the department will receive $1 for each time he is called out to a fire, with an additional pay of 50 cents for each hour in addition to the first hour. Payment for firemen's clothing ruined at the fire also is provided.

Classes in Physical Education

Commence Early in New Year

A meeting was held in the Sumas-Abbotsford high school last Friday evening to discuss the forming of physical education classes in the auditorium for young people of the district over 18 years of age.

The scheduled speaker, Mr. I. Eisenhardt, not being present when the meeting opened, Dr. Plenderleith outlined the situation. Enrolments were taken for six classes: men's basketball, women's basketball, men's badminton, women's badminton, folk dancing, teacher's training class in physical instruction. Classes will be of two hour's duration—one hour of general physical exercise and one hour of recreation.

Mr. Eisenhardt arrived in time to address the meeting on the objects and accomplishments of physical training classes, and stated that young people of the district would derive great benefit from them.

Annual B.C. Seed Fair Opens In Vancouver Next Week

The annual British Columbia Seed and Root Fair will take place in conjunction with the B. C. Winter Fair at the exhibition grounds, Vancouver, from December 7 to 9. The fair is being held under the combined auspices of the B. C. Department of Agriculture and Dominion Seed Branch, in co-operation with the Vancouver Exhibition Association.

The prize list includes classes for commercial seed as well as hand-picked samples. To be eligible to exhibit in the commercial seed section, a person must have produced a certain quality of seed and the seed exhibited must be representative of what the grower has for sale.

Various non-competitive exhibits by seedsmen, government department, and others, will be staged at the Seed Fair.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Beeststone, A. Campbell, E. Plaxton and O. W. Benedict attended the annual banquet of the Mission Board of Trade Monday evening in the Canadian Legion auditorium at Mission. Over 300 guests were seated at an excellent repast. Among speakers was Gordon Sloan, attorney-general for British Columbia.

The SNAPSHOT GUILD

Memory Pictures of Home

Home "interiors" less photographed than most subjects, become precious in after years. They are easy to make if time exposure is used.

RARE is the person of middle age who retains a good memory-image of the home or homes in which he lived as a child, and who does not wish he could.

How the exterior of the house looked is not so difficult to recall, but once-familiar details of living rooms, how the furniture was arranged, what pictures were on the walls, the appearance of the fireplace, how the stairway looked, how the windows were curtained, grow vague with the passing years—unless photographs of these rooms taken at the time are available to refresh the memory.

Chances are, in the case of most grown-ups of middle age and older, no such pictures were taken. But in these days when there is a camera in almost every household, what a pity, really, to let youngsters grow up and leave home, without any pictures ever being taken of the living rooms and bedrooms in which they spent so many of their childhood hours! It is probably because such pictures can be made at almost any time that we are apt to postpone taking them. Since they can now be made easily with any camera, by artificial light at night, as well as by daylight, why, with all this time available, should we any longer neglect to take them? Here are a few hints on taking views of interiors: Since no movement of the subject needs to be considered, time exposures are best, whether by daylight or artificial light, the time depending, of course, on the film used, the amount of light and the stop opening in the lens.

A small stop must usually be used in order to obtain sharp images of objects at various distances from the camera.

Leave all the furniture in its usual place, as far as possible, and take pictures from several viewpoints.

Do not crowd a lot of furniture in a small space just to show it off. It will not be the natural arrangement that you want to remember. Leave clear floor space in the foreground. This may require the removal of a nearby piece of furniture for some views. Watch out for distracting reflections from mirrors or pictures.

Have the camera on a tripod or other rigid support, and placed low enough so that more of the floor than the ceiling can be seen in the finder.

If the whole area of the picture is not clear in the finder because of dark tones and walls, have someone hold a light near the wall until you have fixed the view exactly.

For interiors taken by daylight coming from only one window, a reflector (of white cloth or paper the size of a window shade) will increase the illumination of the corners of the room. Floodlight bulbs may also be used in conjunction with daylight to considerable advantage.

Interiors at night may be taken at "time" with the illumination of three or four ordinary electric light bulbs, but the inexpensive floodlight bulbs now available for indoor picture taking will serve the purpose better. Care should be taken with either kind that an unshaded bulb is not included in the picture or "fog" will result.

Dollars Saved Are Dollars Earned!

EVERY year your family, and every family of your acquaintance, spends about 70 per cent of its income just for living, exclusive of rent—so economic experts tell us. Think what this means—seven dollars out of every ten invested in food, clothing, household utilities and all the multitude of things that keep a family comfortable and happy.

That part of spending is readily understood. But do you realize that every manufacturer and retailer of these necessities is planning how he can get your dollar?

It's a big job to spend so much money wisely and well. It requires careful business methods to get the best possible returns from each dollar that leaves the family purse.

The clever woman goes for help to the advertisements in her local paper. There she finds a directory of buying and selling. She learns about the offerings of merchants and business people. She compares values. She weighs quality and price. She takes this opportunity of judging and selecting almost everything she needs to feed, clothe, amuse, instruct and generally bring up her family.

Indian League Of Nations

Tribes Would Unite In Fealty To The British Crown

An Indian League of Nations, united in common welfare and fealty to the British crown, was advocated at North Battleford, Sask., during an Indian assembly prior to departure of the Mistawasis band for the jubilee celebration of the signing of Treaty No. 6 at Carlton, Sask., 60 years ago. Carlton is 65 miles north of Saskatoon.

The league discussion took place at a three-day convention. It would embrace Redmen of every tribe and race from the Atlantic to the Pacific over its network of reserves.

Chiefs and councillors attended from the Manitoba boundary to the foothills of the Rockies and north to the Churchill river. Chief Joe Dreaver of the Mistawasis was a leading speaker. Canon Edward Ahenakew, president of the League of Indians, was chairman.

They endorsed resolutions concerning safeguarding of rights conferred on them by the 1876 treaty.

Tribesmen were outspoken in their desire for official recognition of their organization. Chief Dreaver thought mutual recognition of the major difficulties by Indians and departmental officials would go a long way toward a solution.

"Let us not meet the representatives of the Great White Chief with hard feeling in our hearts," said Chief Dreaver prior to the tribe's departure for the Carlton celebration. "Let us rather show we feel our advancement has been slow, desiring their co-operation so that the Indian feet may walk more easily along the thorny paths of civilization."

For Canadian Writers

Short Story Contest For British Empire Authors Only

Opportunity for Canadian writers to win three cash prizes is afforded by the announcement of a short story contest for British Empire authors only.

The contest is being conducted by the well known and established American firm of literary agents, Paul R. Reynolds and Son acting through their London correspondent, John Farquharson. The prizes are $125 (or its approximate equivalent of $625) for first, $75 (or its approximate equivalent of $375) for second and $50 (or its approximate equivalent of $250) for third.

If the winning stories earn more than the amount of the prize from sale of world rights, such further earnings will be paid to the author after deducting the usual agent's commission, the sponsors state.

Also any story which does not win a prize but which attains the standard of American and British magazines will be offered for sale, it is added.

No manuscripts of over 10,000 words will be considered, the agents further declare, and prizes will probably be awarded to stories of between 3,500 and 6,000 words.

The competition closes December 31, 1936.

Manuscripts must be addressed to Paul R. Reynolds and Son, care of John Farquharson, 8, Halsey House, Red Lion Square, London, W.C.1, England.

Mysterious Bottle Note

May Solve Disappearance Of Ill-Fated Airship

A two-line message, scrawled on a scrap of paper and decipherable only by means of infra-red photography, may hold the clue to the mystery of the ill-fated air liner Southern Cloud.

Five years after the disaster to the plane, which disappeared with two pilots and six passengers on a flight from Sydney to Melbourne, a bottle has been found on the north coast of New South Wales, containing a fragment of paper inscribed with faded letterings.

It was discovered by Maurice Smith, buried in the mud on the bank of the Wallamba River, about 20 miles from its estuary.

The paper inside was little but fluff and fragments, but by the aid of infra-red photography the words "South Tasmania" were deciphered on one side of the piece of paper, and "Southern Cloud crossed island 30 miles" on the reverse.

The handwriting has been submitted to Dr. C. A. Monticore, a handwriting expert, for comparison with the notebooks of the late Pilot Charles Dunell, who was assistant pilot on the Southern Cloud.

Monticore reports that he has noted several points of resemblance between Pilot Dunell's writing and the writing on the scrap of paper. Efforts will be made to have the paper photographed through special chemical screens, with the object of bringing out the writing more clearly.

Italian Rule In Ethiopia

Red Cross Doctor Says It Is Better Than Chaos And Anarchy

Dr. Thomas A. Lambie, formerly of Toronto and commander of the Ethiopian Red Cross during the Italian invasion, said in New York that "nobody is going to give Ethiopia back to Emperor Haile Selassie." "Ethiopia is still far from being occupied," he said, "but every true friend of Ethiopia believes Italian occupation is far better than the dreadful condition of chaos and anarchy that now prevails, where life is of no value and even women and children are not spared by bands of looters and murderers."

Great Gold Stores

Legend Of The Tropical Valley In Far North Remains Unsolved

The legend of fabulous free gold in the wild Nahanni country, 300 miles west of Fort Simpson and more than 1,200 miles northwest of Edmonton, remains unsolved.

Ever since the turn of the century prospectors have sought the great gold stores of the "tropical valley" in the Nahanni region. Five violent deaths, all unsolved, are laid to the curse of the country. Scores of prospectors have sought the wealth and all have returned without fortunes.

Word came through that the latest search for the source of legendary wealth had failed. Pool Field, veteran northland trader, prospector and trapper, and his partner, J. H. Mulholland, blamed the failure of their expedition on superstitious Indians too afraid to carry on the search.

Last July Field and Mulholland organized the expedition and with 30 Indians started into the area to pan for gold and seek the "lost" mine. The Indians believe the legend that death awaits prospectors entering the region. They went so far into the area—then quit cold and the expedition failed.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

The liver should pour out two pounds of bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas builds up your stomach. You get constipated. Harmful poisons go into the body, and you feel sour, sick and the world looks lumpy.

A mere bowel movement doesn't always get at the cause. You need something that works on the liver as well. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get those two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up". Harmless and gentle, they make the bile flow freely. They do the work of calomel but have no calomel or mercury in them. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name! Stubbornly refuse anything else. 25c.

The Harmon Trophy

Presented To Father Of The Late Capt. Stevenson Of Winnipeg

The Harmon trophy, awarded posthumously to the late Captain Frederick Stevenson of Winnipeg, was in possession of the aviator's parents, nearly 10 years after the flyer was killed in a plane crash near The Pas, Man.

The bronze medal, awarded by the Ligue Internationale des Aviateurs of Paris on behalf of the donor, Clifford B. Harmon, was presented to the flyer's father, Joseph Stevenson, by Lieutenant-Governor W. J. Tupper. The medal had been mislaid several years ago.

Captain Stevenson was the first Canadian to receive the award, recognizing his successful transportation of heavy freight by air into otherwise inaccessible areas of the Canadian northland. His work was described as playing an important part in hastening development of northern mineral areas.

End Of Leap Year

Large Number Of People In Favor Of Calendar Reform

It is very possible that February, 1936, will be the last one to have 29 days. Not that February is going to be deprived of this extra day; on the contrary it is probable that it will be given the same right as the other months to have 30 days.

This is the suggestion of a large group of people who are in favor of a revision of the calendar.

It is probable that the League of Nations will call a conference this year to consider the matter. If the change takes place, February will have 30 days every year. Each sixth year there will be an extra day, but that will fall at the end of June. Another suggestion is that his odd day might be made into an extra holiday between December 31 and New Year's Day.—Journal of Calendar Reform, New York.

Do Not Want Trophy

Owners Of Record Breaking Queen Mary Think International Speed Competition Not Desirable

Owners of the record-breaking Queen Mary are embarrassed—they're afraid they'll be offered a cup.

Although the ship won the trans-Atlantic blue ribbon, the Cunard-White Star Company issued a statement saying the company does not want the Hales trophy which goes with it.

In fact they would "feel obliged to refuse it if offered," the statement said.

The trouble is that directors of the line believe international trophy competition, as they say, introduces an undesirable element into the operation of steamship services.

Herds Are Reduced

Some Southern Alberta Ranchers Reported Short Of Feed

Ranchers of Alberta's foothills, their pasturage ruined by last summer's drought and an extended Indian summer during September and October, are cutting down their herds to suit their feed supplies.

A prospect that winter feeding grounds for some would be found closer to home was seen in the sugar beet country south of Lethbridge, Alta. Pulp and tops from the beets, a waste as far as the sugar industry is concerned, has been proved an excellent fodder and soon a number of feeder cattle will be moved into the area. Around the new Picture Butte plant alone it is expected nearly 4,000 head will be wintered.

England Loses Landed Gentry

Migration Of Old Families To The Dominions Is Noted

That monumental classic of aristocratic reference, "Burke's Landed Gentry," recently published its centenary issue.

The editor, drawing attention to the migration of old families to the Dominions, instances one head of a family of Norman stock owning more acres in Australia than his ancestors ever did in England. A descendant of squires since Henry VIII, though holding but a handful of acres here, can count his property in Canada by the square mile.

Paper Changes Ownership

Toronto Globe, Founded In Pre-Confederation Days, Passes Into New Hands

Ownership control of the Toronto Globe, metropolitan daily founded in the pre-Confederation days of Canada's history, has passed into the hands of C. George McCullagh and William Henry Wright.

William Gladstone Jaffray, president and publisher of the 92-year-old newspaper since 1914, announced that he had relinquished his interest and connection with the morning paper and that 60 per cent. of the shares of the company had been purchased by the new owners. The amount involved was not disclosed.

The Globe now carries in its masthead the name of Mr. McCullagh, who, at the age of 31, becomes the fifth president and publisher of the paper. He thus becomes head of the newspaper which 20 years ago he hawked on London streets.

The new president, in assuming control, announced that the historic traditions of the paper will be continued; that politically it would be Independent-Liberal.

Train Despatching By Phone

Is Superseding Telegraph For Transmission Of Messages

The telephone gradually is supplanting the telegraph in train dispatching, according to reports made to the telegraph and telephone section of the Association of American Railroads.

"The telephone," said a statement issued by the association, "on Jan. 1, 1936, was being used in the transmission of train orders over 148,799 miles of road, or 63.53 per cent., while the telegraph was being utilized only over 92,466 miles.

"This is a material change from conditions prevailing in 1920, when the telephone was being used over 119,554 miles of road, or 48.5 per cent., while the telegraph was used over 134,667 miles.

"Particularly has the telephone proved its superiority in emergencies in train operations. By using a way station or portable telephone the engineer or conductor can communicate directly with the train dispatcher or division superintendent, thus giving him more first-hand information in less time than with the telegraph."

MATSQUI

Mrs. W. Beharrel was hostess to the Community Club at her home on Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. P. Smith and Mrs. D. Mac-Dougall are spending some time at Mt. Vernon, Wash.

Miss Grace Hurum spent the week end in Vancouver.

L. J. Kettle received word of the death of his mother, Mrs. J. Kettle, of Pasadena, Calif., on Tuesday morning.

Abbotsford basketball teams played their first games of the season last Wednesday evening, in exhibition encounters at Matsqui. The locals lost both games—Senior "B" and Inter
"A", but performed quite creditably considering that none of the players had previously touched a basketball this season.

Abbotsford Men's Club "B" cribbage team defeated the Abbotsford Ladies
"A" team on Wednesday evening by a score of 20-16.

Some valuable paintings, one valued at several thousand dollars, have been donated to be hung in the new auditorium, and it is hoped to make this the nucleus of an art gallery in this district.

Though the attendance was small,
the whist drive held in the Masonic hall on Wednesday evening, under the auspices of the C. C. F. district council, was enjoyable. The prize winner were Mrs. E. H. Baker, Mrs. F. Thomson Mr. W. Dood and Mr. A. Holmberg.

Mrs. Plenderleith and daughter have arrived in Abbotsford, and with Mr. Plenderleith will take up residence in the house formerly occupied by Mr.
and Mrs. Caldecott.

Abbotsford soccer team were scheduled to play in Vancouver on Saturday afternoon, but the heavy fog which enveloped the Coast city last week caused postponement of the game.

Shipments of milk were re-routed to Delair milk condensary on Monday, and the plant swung into full production on Tuesday, after the annual layoff for overhauling of the equipment.

Property holders on Laurel street and vicinity have signed a petition to the Village Commission, requesting that immediate attention be given to an open ditch on Laurel street, near site of the former Orange hall. The petition stated that the ditch, into which sewerage empties, is highly un-sanitary. The Commissioners promised to give the matter immediate attention.

JAPANESE NOT INTENDING TO INVADE B.C. WATERS

Captain Ginzo Nakagawa of the Tokyo fisheries institute training ship Hakuyo Maru, which recently returned home from a trip along the Pacific Coast this summer, has stated that the fishing interests of both British Columbia and Alaska are unduly excited over Japanese fishermen undermining the salmon and halibut catches in their coastal waters. He is adamant in saying that not a single Japanese vessel was engaged in salmon fishing off the Pacific coast this season and that the officials of the agriculture and forestry ministry do not intend to advance the Japanese fishing industry into American or Canadian waters.

GIFFORD

The Gifford library committee has arranged a whist drive to be held in the Glenmore school on Friday evening, Dec. 11th. This is the last whist drive that will be sponsored by the li-

C. N. R. Appointments Announced

Changes affecting western officers of the Canadian National Railways were announced recently involving personalities well known in British Columbia. On the left is W. T. Moodie, who leaves the post of General Superintendent, Northern Ontario District, to become General Superintendent of the Canadian National Railways and Steamships for British Columbia. Centre is N. B. Walton, a former General Superintendent at Prince Rupert, who has been made Chief of Transportation at Montreal, leaving the post of General Superintendent of Transportation at Winnipeg. B. T. Chappell, right, leaves the position of General Superintendent at Vancouver to become General Superintendent, Manitoba District, with headquarters at Winnipeg. Mr. Moodie brings a wealth of engineering experience to his new duties.
From a firm of celebrated civil engineers in Glasgow, Scotland, he graduated to railroad engineering on the Caledonian Railway and the Central South African Railways in the Transvaal.
Coming to Canada in 1908, he joined the Canadian Northern at Winnipeg to commence a career in Canada that has led by successive steps to the highest C.N.R. executive post in British Columbia.

The Merchant and the Community

DO YOU REALIZE how badly we would fare if our merchants had to go out of business and leave us dependent upon stores miles away from home?

People are beginning to consider the fact that,
after all, they owe a debt to their home merchants.
The man who supplies us with merchandise when we want it, is entitled to consideration for the service he gladly renders the citizens.

Now, since we are to work for the growth and welfare of Abbotsford, let us first support the merchants who play such a vital part in the development of our community.

The man or woman who is not outspoken for his or her HOME TOWN, is against it. The attitude you take towards Abbotsford and its merchants has much to do with the reputation and standing of our community among our outside friends.

The merchants are needed to bring your town into its own.

BOOST ABBOTSFORD AND SUPPORT ITS MERCHANTS!

MILLIONS OF SALMON EGGS AT CULTUS LAKE HATCHERY

Spawning time at the Cultus Lake hatchery is a busy time for A. Robertson, hatchery superintendent, and his seven assistants, who are handling thousands of the silvery-scaled specimens, taking an average of one million eggs each day from the females of the species.

The run this year is expected to yield some 20 millions of eggs, which will be placed in the hatcheries at the lake, where they will be cared for until hatched in the spring.

The ratio of male fish (bucks) to females this year is four to one, a coincidence being the record of four years ago, which showed a similar comparison of males to females.

The dead and spawned fish are this year being boxed and sent to New Westminster for freezing and storage, and will provide food for the yearling when they are hatched in the spring. The saving in feeding costs by this method is expected to be around one

DEAD BODY OF SIAMESE TWIN SEPARATED FROM SURVIVOR

In the glaring white, intensely silent operating room of a New York hospital last week a surgeon and four assistants separated a dead human body from a living one. They had been joined together by a band of cartilage at the base of the spine since birth—for 28 years.

The operation was imperative and no one knew it more than Simplicio Godino, whose black eyes rolled in fright in his white face as he was wheeled under the operating lights.

On the stretcher hip to hip, shoulder to shoulder, joined by a cord the diameter of a doubled fist, as nature had ordained they should live, was the inert, sagging body of his Siamese twin, Lucio, whose eyes were closed in death.

Lucio slipped into the borderland at 6 p.m. and at 11:40 p.m. succumbed to lobar pneumonia. For ten days the well Simplicio had been an involuntary patient, fretting, bored, wishing for his brother's hasty recovery. Last night while his brother was dying, he had hours to think of the inseparability of Siamese twins. If one dies, the other dies too, has been the unvarying experience of medicine, with very few exceptions.

As Lucio drew his last breath, the nurses prepared the operating room. Forty minutes later the living body and the dead body were wheeled through the corridor under the bright light.

Doctors believed there was an excellent chance for Simplicio to survive. He and his brother differed from all previous Siamese twins in that they did not share one circulatory system, a condition which in the past has made severance operations impossible.

cent per pound of food.

Spawning this year is being done for the Biological Board of Canada, who, following the planting of the yearlings and eggs, will count the number of hatched yearlings leaving the lake next spring, and the board will use this method of assessing the value of the experimental work now being done in the elimination of the coarse fish from the lake.

It is expected that spawning will continue until some time in December, when the run usually ceases.

Abbotsford Football Team's Standing

Following is the standing of the Abbotsford soccer team in the Greater Vancouver Amateur Athletic League. It will be seen that the locals have only played four games, two of them against the two top teams in the league, so that there is every chance of Abbotsford finishing the season in quite a respectable position as the boys are faring much better in the latter games they have played.

TRELLE WINS TWO MORE WORLD GRAIN CROWNS

Herman Trelle of Wembley, Alta., has added his fifth world's championship in wheat and his third in oats to his long list of successes at the international grain and hay show at Chicago.

Facing a legion of Canadian farmers to championships and a rainbow of ribbons, Trelle won the oats championship with his "Victory" variety and added the wheat crown with a "Reward" sample for his second double "kingship" in eleven years. In 1926 he set a record for the Chicago exposition by winning both wheat and oats awards.

The double win never accomplished by another exhibitor, brought Trelle's list of grand championships to sixteen. Previously he had won with peas, beans, rye, flax and timothy. The wheat championship was the 22nd to be won by a Canadian in 26 years. Farmers from Saskatchewan have won 11 times, from Alberta 10 times and from Manitoba once.

The 41-year-old Trelle scored the wheat victory on his return to the competition after three years of enforced retirement because of three previous wins—a ruling made at the time of his last wheat championship in 1932.

British Columbia was prominently represented among the winners at the grain show.
